11. Limits explained - it is important to learn about and understand Spending and Withdrawal limits

The screenshot shows the PayPal account management interface. At the top, there are links for 'Log Out', 'Help', and 'Security Center', along with a search bar. The main navigation bar includes 'My Account', 'Send Money', 'Request Money', 'Merchant Services', 'Products & Services', and 'Community'. Below this, a sub-navigation bar lists 'Overview', 'Add Funds', 'Withdraw', 'History', 'Resolution Center', and 'Profile'. The main content area is titled 'Limits on your account' and contains a paragraph explaining that initial limits are in place for security and can be lifted by verifying bank or card information. A table lists the 'Sending limit' and 'Withdrawal limit (monthly)*', both currently at $0.00 USD, with 'Lift Limits' links. A callout box with a black border and white background points to these links, stating: 'This is the default limits before you verify anything... This lets funds accrue in your account, but you cant w/d more than 500/mo until you verify yourself. 'Lift Limits' shows you how...'. Below the table, a note states that limits are reset monthly on the account's anniversary (July 2, 2010). Further down, there are sections for 'What do these limits mean?', 'Sending limit', 'Withdrawal limits', and a list of conditions for lifting limits. The page concludes with a 'Return to Account Overview' link and a footer containing various legal and contact links, a copyright notice for 1999-2010 PayPal, and a link to FDIC pass-through insurance information.

Limits on your account

For security reasons, there are initial limits on the amount of money you can send, receive, and withdraw from your PayPal account. It's easy to lift these limits – simply verify your bank account or card information.

Type of Limit	Limit	Remaining	Action
Sending limit	$0.00 USD	$0.00 USD	Lift Limits
Withdrawal limit (monthly)*	$500.00 USD	$0.00 USD	Lift Limits

This is the default limits before you verify anything... This lets funds accrue in your account, but you cant w/d more than 500/mo until you verify yourself. 'Lift Limits' shows you how...

Your monthly receiving and withdrawal limits are reset every month on the anniversary of when you opened your account. Your account was opened on Jul 2, 2010

What do these limits mean?

Sending limit: The maximum amount you can send before you must verify your bank account or card information. To increase this limit to $2,000.00 USD add a Credit Card. More on getting verified to lift your limits.

Withdrawal limits:

- Monthly: The maximum amount you can withdraw in a month before you must verify your bank account or card information.

In some cases, you will need to confirm your address and/or link and confirm your card to lift your withdrawal limits.

*Your limit is reset every month, starting from the date you opened your account. Your account was opened on Jul 2, 2010. After you have completed 2 of the 3 steps, your Withdrawal Limit will be removed. All limits are denominated in the currency of your Primary Balance. If you withdraw funds from a currency balance other than your Primary Currency, your Withdrawal Limit will be reduced by the Primary Currency equivalent of the withdrawal amount.
